COUNTDOWN

We have enjoyed an enthusiastic and thorough response from our community on the CFA National Priority Setting Survey, and we are extremely pleased and grateful.

The community can always be counted on to pitch in when the chips are down for this cause, however this survey was particularly in-depth and technical. We are proud to see everyone rising to that challenge as we knew they surely would.

However, all this engagement means nothing without the next steps in the process. We are building towards a new and community-driven priority outline for CF Funding and Advocacy in Australia. This means crunching the data we have, bringing in more expert voices and generally building towards our Priority Setting Summit that will take place next year.

For that reason we have had to be very strict about the assigned time limit for closing this survey and moving on to the next phase. We can only keep things open until end of the month.

When the June 30th deadline hits, CFA will have its work cut out for it working on the new data and I hope everyone is excited for our follow up. We should not understate the importance of what is being attempted. Complex research-based causes are very rarely community-driven at this deep level. Our community is thoroughly engaged and deeply informed and we believe they are ready to hold the reigns on the future of CF in Australia.

Click through the link while you can and give those reigns a tug:
