Imagine being told your beautiful new born baby would be better off with a terminal illness. This is was the devastating news delivered to the Dryburgh family when they found out that Bradley had cystic fibrosis.

Meet Bradley

Bradley was only three weeks old when the doctors performed a 'Guthrie's test' otherwise known as the 'heel prick test' and was diagnosed with cystic fibrosis (CF).

At the time, Bradley's parents had no idea about this disease. One of the first Doctors they spoke with explained CF to them, stating that Bradley would be better with a terminal illness, as that would either kill him, or he would recover, but tragically he explained that CF would ruin Bradley's life!

Bradley's parents knew that living with CF would be tough and that it was going to be a difficult battle but they were committed to do all the right things so that Bradley could have the best life possible.

That was 26 years ago.

Bradley has endured tough times, but his attitude has always remained positive.

He does this so that others can also see his positive and optimistic outlook and feel the same.

Today many people in our community know or have heard of Bradley. He is a passionate advocate for Cystic Fibrosis Australia. In fact Bradley instigated the #42forCF annual marathon that raises funds and awareness for cystic fibrosis. Bradley encourages others to fundraise too because he has first hand experience of the great outcomes he has experienced. Bradley stated,

"There are hard realities of CF to live a healthy life and wanting to be part of a solution. Being the most common genetic illness in Australia everyone will be connected to cystic fibrosis, it is so close to home and we all need to do our part to help."

Like Bradley, there are thousands of Australians who live with cystic fibrosis and hope that one day, there is a cure found. Cystic Fibrosis Australia is working relentlessly to get the best outcomes for our community.

By donating before June 30, your tax-deductible gift will mean Cystic Fibrosis Australia can drive long-term outcomes, including research into better treatment, that may ultimately bring a cure.

Your donation will enable CFA to continue the critical advocacy work, ensuring our voices are heard by Government, Media and Health Professionals so that the CF Community can be represented appropriately and get the best health outcomes for everyone living with cystic fibrosis.

Your donation will also ensure that we can continue the fight not only for Bradley, and the thousands of Australian's living with CF but for the many children yet to be born with cystic fibrosis, so that one day we hope to find a cure.

Please consider making a recurring donation to support CFA's on-going work
